Almost everyone knows someone who is affected directly or indirectly by a harmful addiction.

For example, the National Institute on Alcohol and Alcohol Abuse has reported that 1 in every 13 adults abuse alcohol.

Please help them by sharing this brochure, which contains news of the science-based and secular self-help group: SMART Recovery® (Self-Management And Recovery Training), with others who might be interested, and those who should know like doctors and clergy.

Frequently Asked Questions

What is SMART Recovery®?

A self-help program for ending addictive behaviors through abstinence based on science and humanistic values.

Free local and on-line self-help meetings led by professional and lay facilitators supported by a local professional advisor and a national board of addiction specialists who offer ongoing facilitator training.

A volunteer-run international non-profit organization dedicated to providing free self-help meetings and information to help people seeking independence from harmful addictive behaviors and offering training to the volunteer facilitators and advisors who form the backbone of the organization.

A Program Based On:

- ◆ Choice
- ◆ Personal Responsibility
- ◆ Proven Principles Of Change
- ◆ Unconditional Self-Acceptance

What makes SMART Recovery® different?

SMART Recovery® builds its program on rigorously tested methods accepted in modern psychology, particularly Cognitive-Behavioral techniques, Rational Emotive Behavior Therapy [REBT] principles and the non-confrontational principles of Motivational Enhancement Therapy.

We hold that a person's religious or spiritual convictions are a personal matter. Spirituality may be helpful for some, but they are not a "requirement" of our program.

Does this program work?

Yes! If you are willing to work hard and persistently at helping yourself, the tools offered through SMART Recovery® can make your efforts more productive.

How does SMART Recovery® work?

In small groups we talk freely, sharing ideas, support and experience. We learn proven and practical self-management and recovery skills through discussions and self-help activities. We learn specific methods for each task of The SMART Recovery® 4-Point Program™:

- ◆ enhance and maintain motivation to abstain
- ◆ cope with urges
- ◆ manage thoughts, feelings and behavior
- ◆ balance momentary and enduring satisfactions

Can I "use" socially?

We believe a permanent abstinence decision can be a rational, easy and hassle-free solution to addiction. With the right tools and skills most people can quit without a lifelong struggle and dependency on a group. However, we view sobriety as a personal choice and relapse as a learning opportunity.

Is this something new?

SMART Recovery® includes some ideas that go back to ancient Greek philosophers, and also the Rational Emotive Behavior Therapy of Dr. Albert Ellis. The methods in our toolbox of techniques have been carefully tested and found effective in the last decade. These powerful ideas and practices, learned and discussed in a friendly, encouraging, supportive environment, form the foundation for our self-help groups.
